D'ALTON B. MYERS

ALFRED J. WORSDELL, Jr.

ARTHUR J. LAIDLAW

Myers, Worsdell To Lead 2nd Small Business Panel

Organizing for Greater Profits to Be Topic 7 P.M. Thursday at K.H.S.

The second in the series of eight weekly panel discussions in the Bard Plan for Small Business, which opened March 4, will be held Thursday, March 11, at Kingston High School Auditorium, at 7 p. m.

Topic for the session will be, How to Organize and Maintain Your Business Operations for Greater Profits. Two experts in this phase of small business are on the program, Alfred J. Worsdell, Jr., of Albany, first deputy commissioner, New York State Department of Commerce, and D'Alton Bristol Myers, of Washington, internationally-known author and expert on small business problems. Chairman of the panel will be Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, Kingston, and a trustee of St. Lawrence University.

A larger attendance than last week's 600 is anticipated, since the unseasonable cold plus icy roads throughout the Hudson valley discouraged some registrants.

Persons who have not registered for the series may procure individual admissions at the door for $1. Series tickets are still available at $3.

The first session in this unique face-to-face series with business men and women on a local level featured Senator Arthur H. Wicks, chairman of the New York State Senate Finance Committee, who discussed the state's role to improve small business conditions; and J. K. Lasser, of New York, nationally-known tax expert, author and founder of the Bard Plan for Small Business. Present were observers from the New York State and the United States Departments of Commerce. The series is offered by Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, in cooperation with the Kingston Chamber of Commerce to improve small business opportunities in the Hudson valley.

First Deputy Commissioner Worsdell, formerly director of the Division of Commerce and Industry in the State Department, now is in charge of administrative supervision under Commissioner Harold Keller. Worsdell was appointed deputy commissioner in May, 1944, at which time he resigned as executive manager of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants.

At the end of World War 2, when the department launched its successful campaign to replace the 100,000 small businesses which succumbed during the conflict, Worsdell directed the drive at the local level and worked with chambers of commerce and other community groups. He is a frequent contributor to national trade publications and for four years was a lecturer in the School of Retailing, New York University, on the

A. E. Thomas Dies; Blind, Was Printer And Piano Tuner

Graduate of Batavia School Set Up Own Office 30 Years Ago Uptown

Arthur Elbert Thomas, 68, of 23 Crown street, well-known as a piano tuner and for his association in the printing business with his sons, died early this morning at the Kingston Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Thomas was born June 15, 1879, a son of the late Charles M. and Christiana Brink Thomas. Blind since early childhood, Thomas attended the New York State School for the Blind at Batavia, where he became proficient in the art of piano tuning.

He worked for awhile in Ulster and Albany counties, and about 30 years ago set up an office for piano selling and tuning on the second floor of the Leventhal Building, 288 Wall street, where he remained for about three years.

Later, he conducted a piano business from his home on Crown street until joining his brother, Herbert, in active management of the printing shop established by his father. With the retirement of Herbert in January, 1947, Arthur Thomas took over the operation of the printing business with his sons, Edward E. and Clarence E.

Thomas was well-known for his ability to perform such tasks as piano tuning and paper cutting despite that fact he was totally

Confidence Bill Appears Doomed

Senate Leader Would Have Commission Review Newsmen Angles

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—Advocates of the Desmond-Mailler newspaper "confidence" bill had a tip off today that the measure apparently was doomed.

The sign came last night from Senate Republican Leader Benjamin F. Feinberg, who usually reflects the views of Governor Dewey's administration on legislation.

Feinberg said in a radio interview with newspapermen that the legislature "should not be hasty" in deciding on the Desmond-Mailler bill, which would give newsmen immunity from punishment for refusing to disclose to grand juries or other official bodies their sources of confidential information.

Feinberg suggested the "confidence" question be referred to the State Law Commission for study with a view toward a final legislative decision next year.

The Desmond-Mailler bill was introduced after two Newburgh newspaper men had been jailed last month for contempt of court for refusing to tell a grand jury where they obtained a lottery ticket reproduced in their paper.

The men, Douglas V. Clarke and Charles Leonard, were freed

McGrath Is Outspoken On Wallace

Democrats Turn Their Back on Third Party Candidate Through National Leader

Reece Also Speaks

G.O.P. Chairman Says There Is No Moscow Wing in Setup

Philadelphia, March 10 (AP)—J. Howard McGrath, Democratic National Committee chairman, last night turned his party's back on Henry Wallace.

Carroll Reece, Republican National Committee chairman, speaking with McGrath at the Philadelphia Bulletin Forum, said that the "Republican party is a united party. It has no Moscow wing."

Predicting that "a united Democratic party" would win the November general election, McGrath sharply criticized what he termed "the impractical liberalism" of Wallace.

"A Henry Wallace can condemn the bi-partisan foreign policy and offer nothing more than abject appeasement to the forces of godless Communism," McGrath said.

"A Henry Wallace can condone the enslavement of a Hungary and a Czechoslovakia, rationalizing the loss of a nation's liberty by a series of words that mean nothing."

"No party bearing the real responsibility of government can flout the national conscience so glibly, can excuse a foreign power so meekly, can abuse it so completely before an alien ideology.

"A Henry Wallace," said McGrath, "can deny the facts of history. He can deny responsibility on the one hand and lay it upon the Democratic party with the other."

Says There's No Taint

Declaring that the United States "must have a united party in control of our government if we are to have a united nation," Reece said:

"The Republican party has never been tainted by radicalism, as exemplified in Russia today, which makes the individual the slave of the state.

The Republican party is a united party. It has no Moscow wing. It has no radical wing. It has no Pendergast wing. It has no Jim Crow wing."

The Republican party, said Reece, is determined to reduce taxes, and "despite the reverses sustained last year because of an outrageous misuse of the executive veto, I predict that there will be a substantial reduction in taxes this year."

"A reduction in taxes must be accompanied by a reduction in ex-

Charter Committee Gets Suggestions

Changing of Fiscal Year, Purchasing Agent Are Two Major Points

A small group of interested citizens met with members of the Charter Revision Commitee at the city hall Tuesday night to discuss proposed revisions to the city charter. Chairman John J. Schwenk presided.

As in former meetings of the committee, the one suggestion which received generally favorable expression of opinion was that of changing the city's fiscal year to end in the summer, instead of on December 31. This is held to ease the burden on the taxpayer and to eliminate the confusion which results every time a new administration takes office.

The inclusion of a purchasing

Governor Dewey Is Winner In New Hampshire Primary

Concord, N. H., March 10 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today won the first round in the ballot box fight for the Republican presidential nomination.

The New York governor swept six of the eight delegates in the New Hampshire presidential primary yesterday—the first in the nation in the 1948 campaign.

Showing strength in both rural and urban areas, Dewey beat back the challenge of Harold E. Stassen, only other announced Republican candidate to enter a full slate.

President Truman won endorsement of the Democrats in their primary. He was unopposed.

Dewey was generally favored in this primary—one that politicians held important from a psychological viewpoint.

The Dewey slate captured three of the four delegates elected at large.

Leading the way were two veteran campaigners—former Governor Robert O. Blood, who polled 26,204 votes in the 282 of the 298 precincts already counted, and Gov. Charles M. Dale, who got 25,414.

The third Dewey man to win in the state-wide contest was Robert Upton, vice chairman of the Republican state committee with 19,837.

Fourth place went to a Stassen delegate—New Hampshire's present Republican National Committeeman Frank Sulloway with 19,128 votes.

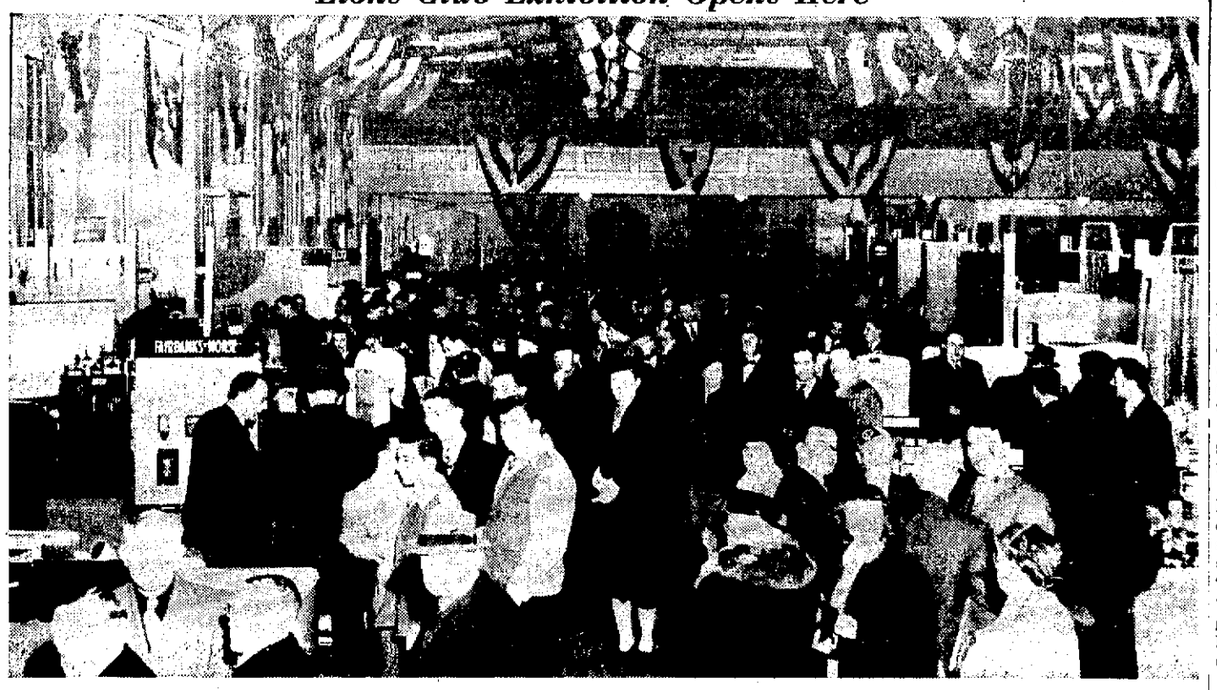

One interesting sidelight of the primary was the small vote polled by two delegates running pledged to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, although the general had announced he was not interested in politics.

Eisenhower's name appeared on

Jan Masaryk Dies in Plunge at Prague; His Death Deprives Czech Communists Of Use of His Distinguished Name

Foreign Minister, 61, Was Son of Republic's First President; Last Seen Sunday

Nation Is Shocked

Government Says He Was Nervously Ill Recently

Prague, March 10 (AP) — Jan Masaryk, non-party foreign minister in the new Communist government, killed himself today in a leap from his second story office the government announced. He was 61.

(Gen. Lev. Prchala, a Czech resistance leader in London, commented: "Suicide? It is possible.")

Masaryk was the son of Thomas Masaryk, founder and first president of the republic. His death took from the Communists the use of the distinguished name. The controlled radio said Masaryk "must have been seriously aggrieved and wounded by the malicious, tendentious attacks made upon him by the western press."

Officials of the foreign ministry, after a period of reluctance to confirm the report, finally announced Masaryk had died at 8 a. m. The government broadcast at noon officially announced the death. It followed the announcement with the solemn requiem music of Anton Dvorak, the great Czech composer. The government delayed without explanation foreign news agency telegraph circuits for 30 minutes.

Masaryk last appeared publicly Sunday. He looked harassed, haggard and worried.

The controlled press had quoted him as telling Czechoslovak army officers last Thursday:

"You can count on me. I am one of you. * * * we must have unity with the Soviet Union. Our place is at their side. We must be grateful if Russia allows us to be there. We made a bloodless revolution and have entered a new phase of history."

Even while Masaryk's body was borne from the courtyard where he fell, Dr. Prokop Drtina, who was minister of justice in the previous cabinet with him, was convalescing from head injuries sustained in what police said was a three-story plunge from his villa.

Gather in Knots

Czechoslovakia gathered in little knots discussing Masaryk's death. It was a shock to those who regarded him as a possible balance wheel for the country. It was a blow also to those who believed he might be helpful in getting them out of the closely-guarded country legally. Masaryk once helped 5,000 Jews escape from German occupation forces.

The government announcement said Masaryk had "suffered an illness, coupled with infirmity, and it seems probably that in a moment of nervous disturbance, he jumped out of a window in his official flat in the (Czernin) Palace."

"Right to the last minute, he showed no sign of depression," the announcement said. "To the contrary he was full of lively optimisms. The circumstances are being investigated."

The government said Masaryk "voluntarily took his life." The foreign minister had suffered from bronchitis recently.

Communist Premier Klement Gottwald made no immediate statement. Nor did ailing President Eduard Benes, who acceded to Communist demands for control.

The radio account said half of the text of a speech Masaryk was to have made tonight to a Polish-Czech friendship meeting was on his desk.

His body was found in the palace courtyard at about 8 a. m. It was carried away quickly. Neighbors said the lights in Masaryk's offices burned all night.

Masaryk occupied a small and unpretentious apartment in the lavish foreign office-czernin palace.

His sister Alice Masaryk lives in a home near the palace. Another sister, Mrs. Olga Revilliod, lives in Geneva, Switzerland.

When the reports of Masaryk's death began to circulate in Prague, people assembled in little groups. Some of them were weeping.

Official agencies, including the Ministeries of Interior and Information, would say only that they had no detailed information.

The government - controlled Czechoslovak Press Agency said it would be decided later what form the communique would take.

Revered by Czechs

Masaryk, 61, was revered in Czechoslovakia as the son of Thomas G. Masaryk, liberator, founder and first president of modern Czechoslovakia. His retention in the Communist-bossed cabinet after the coup was inter-

Commerce Board Announces Drive For New Members

Directors Also Favor Name of Onteora Trail for Route to Oneonta

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce held last evening, Robert Teetsel, chairman of the membership committee, announced that a membership campaign would be conducted in May.

The board also went on record as favoring the naming of Route 28, leading from Kingston to Oneonta, the Onteora Trail. This name has been suggested as a means of identifying the route which runs westerly from Kingston through the Catskill mountains and a petition was received by the board from the Ulster County Board of Supervisors asking the Chamber to back the movement.

It was also reported that the Chamber of Commerce had been taking an active course toward securing an executive secretary for the Chamber of Commerce, a position which has been vacant for the past several weeks. Advertisements have been carried in the New York newspapers and the board has received approximately 100 applications. These applications will be screened by the board and within the next couple of weeks those selected for interviews will be notified.

Several other matters of interest to the welfare of the city were discussed.

A letter was received and read from J. J. Carroll, president of Eastern Tractor Corporation of this city in which Mr. Carroll outlined the policies of the company and suggested means for promotion of the economic life of the community.

Mr. Carroll pointed out that his company believed that a well directed program to bring to the city from six to 12 new industries, employing from 50 to 100 men, would prove successful and that the addition of such industries would bring an additional $150,000 in payrolls to the city from each concern for a total of almost a million dollars.

Letter to Chamber

The letter which was presented and read to the board members stated the policies and aims of Eastern Tractor and outlined suggestions for the betterment of Kingston. The letter follows:

Kingston, N. Y., March 9, 1948.

Mr. Lou Steketee, President
Kingston Chamber of Commerce,
Kingston, New York

Dear Mr. Steketee:

Our talks with the Chamber's Board of Directors and our subsequent newspaper advertising wherein we reported graphically to the people of the city of Kingston have created so much interest that it has been suggested to me that I write to you outlining our campany's policies as they may affect the community in which we live.

Communities are people. Our company lives in the community.

New Paltz Youth Held for Robbery

Kenneth Paltridge Blamed by Ferris Parker for Attack in Auto

Kenneth Paltridge, 18, R. D., New Paltz, was held for the grand jury on a second degree robbery charge when he was arraigned last night before Peace Justice Percy Bush, Town of Ulster.

The youth was arrested, according to a sheriff's report on complaint of Ferris Parker, 47, of New Paltz, who reported that he was assaulted by Paltridge on an automobile ride March 7.

Parker, the report said, had met Paltridge and two other young men at a tavern near New Paltz and asked them for a ride to the village. They obliged, he said, and shortly after the car had started, one of the trio in the back seat with him asked him for his money.

Parker said he had no money, the authorities reported, and one of the youths, later identified as Paltridge, struck him and demanded that he hand over whatever money he had on his person.

Threats Continue

The threats continued after Parker had shown his wallet which contained no money and the youth began a search of his pockets, according to the information. One of the young men also suggested that Parker might have money in his shoes and he removed them to show that he had none.

The sheriff's report said that Parker was badly beaten as the demands for his money were repeated and that he first told his story to Deputy Sheriff Leonard Newkirk at New Paltz.

County Investigator Clayton Vredenburgh and Identification Officer Leonard Bellmore were assigned to investigate and Paltridge was arrested last night.

The youth who drove the auto, the authorities said, was not involved in threatening Parker, and the other young man, who was in the car, is due to join the U. S. Marine Corps.

Driver Blames Icy Pavement; Damages Porch of Rifenbary Residence

Slippery road conditions on the East Chester street hill gave residents of that area another scare about 5:58 a. m. today when a 1946 produce van truck of Schenectady skidded to the right, hit a snowbank, skidded again after the driver had righted the vehicle, struck a telephone pole, and then plunged into the driveway at 62 East Chester street, the police said.

The truck, operated by Harry L. Kuchera, 1154 Waverly Place, Schenectady, was owned by the Caruso Fruit Distribution Corp., of 241 Broadway, Schenectady, and received considerable damage as a result of the accident.

According to the police report the truck was proceeding west on East Chester street at the time and after it had passed Highland avenue the vehicle skidded to the right, and ran into a snowbank. Kuchera, the police reported, then managed to get the truck back on the pavement but it again skidded and plunged to the left side of the street and into the driveway of Arthur M. Rifenbary, 62 East Chester street.

The truck, while it caused some damage to the bluestone steps at the Rifenbary home, first struck a pole which was carrying electric and telephone wires, cable and fire alarm wires. The force of the impact snapped off the pole and it was left draped over the cab of the truck.

Efforts to reach Mr. Rifenbary this morning failed but the police report said that the bluestone steps at the East Chester street residence may have been shifted or somewhat damaged.

No Injuries Reported

Although the right rear side of the truck cab was smashed in and

Kingston Exhibit Attracts 1,000 on Its First Night

Crowd Is Well Pleased With Entertainment; Two Shows Are Presented

Last night's opening of "The Kingston Area on Parade" drew a virtual parade of more than 1,000 area residents through the doors of the municipal auditorium and over the midway of the colorful booth displays.

It was an encouraging opening-night attendance, said Lawrence J. MacAvery, chairman of the Lions Club committee in charge, and appeared to be the forecast of bigger nights ahead.

"The entire Lions Club and the exhibitors were well pleased with the attendance and they look forward to a satisfying attendance for each night through the week," MacAvery said.

The attractively decorated booths and general display arrangements, won the praise of visitors, observers reported, and interest was noticeably high in the variety of items displayed.

The entertainment featuring Raymond Chase, concertina virtuoso, was well received and the crowd found many other entertaining features from the start to the finish of the exposition.

Two shows were presented, one at 8:30 and the other at 9:30 p. m., but the time of the performances tonight has been changed to 8:15 and 10 p. m. The entertainment booked for this evening is "Jack Horner and His Little People," the chairman said.

The box office report showed 949 paid admissions, and of this total, it was announced 110 voted in the 4-H contest which is a feature of the show.

The winners of the contest, a boy and a girl 4-H Club member will be awarded a gardenaid tractor by the Eastern Tractor Manu-

Austrian Girl, Hurt by Reds, Says She Was Questioned

Vienna, March 10 (AP)—A 19-year-old Austrian girl, her face still swollen from the blow of a Russian gun butt, said today she underwent gruelling questioning by the Russians after her American companion was shot in the back by a Soviet sentry.

Red-haired Elfriede Elias said she was seized by the Russians while trying to give first aid to P.F.C. Jack Grunden, 18, of Portland, Ore., the unarmed American who was beaten and shot in a scuffle with Russian soldiers Sunday night.

She said she was taken through a back door of the Russian-occupied Grand Hotel and driven to Russian headquarters. There, she said, she was questioned three times by Russian officers before being released Monday night.

Miss Elias said she had signed a statement dictated by the Russians and was warned:

"If you tell another story to the Americans later on, we will find you, wherever you are, and then you will see what happens to you."

Her story of the incident, as told the Associated Press, has been confirmed by Grunden, now recovering in the 110th Station Hospital. This is her version:

Three American soldiers were walking with their Austrian girl friends along the sidewalk of the parkway bordering the Grand Hotel. P.F.C. Joseph Harper (address unavailable) and his girl were leading. Following at some distance were Pvt. Samuel Adelman, of Baltimore, Md., and his girl. Grunden and Miss Elias were some 30 yards behind.

A Russian soldier, apparently off duty, ordered Adelman off the

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

BY HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Lloyd George once said of Eamon de Valera:

"Negotiating with that Irishman is like trying to scoop up quicksilver with a fork."

His own people used to say of him:

"He is marching on Dublin at the head of 16,000 Lords."

But the American-born "Dev" also was a flaming revolutionary who helped win the Irish Free State by terrorism and civil war.

Only his American citizenship saved this son of a Spanish father and Irish mother from being put to death after the abortive Easter Day rebellion of 1916. All other leaders were executed. It was in a British jail that de Valera, a former mathematics teacher, first found leisure to learn the Einstein theory.

But those days are long past.

Old friends who meet him during his present month-long visit to the land of his birth will find him a man who has graduated from violence. He has laid down his shillelagh.

The deep intensity that marked him during earlier trips to raise funds for Irish independence is gone. At 64 Dev has achieved a twinkling-eyed serenity.

Today he no longer feels that force will be needed to achieve the one remaining goal of his life—the end of partition in Ireland.

He spoke of this goal as he sat in the Palm Room of the Waldorf-Astoria, knitting his big rawboned hands placidly and smiling through his spectacles. He looked like a fatherly professor from a small college.

Partition No Solution

Because he is no longer Irish premier—he was voted out recently after 16 years in office—he declined to talk on Irish domestic issues. But he said that, as spokesman of the opposition, "we'll be there."

"I doubt that partition will work in Palestine any more than it has in Ireland," he said, "because partition doesn't solve a problem. It just creates two more."

He was asked whether he saw any means of achieving a united Ireland through any other avenue than force.

"Yes," he said, "through wise statesmanship. We got our ports back without force. I am a great believer in the eventual triumph of right and common sense.

Unity the Answer

"A divided Ireland makes no sense. It will be for the good of all of us if we work to remove the disturbing causes between us. And once Ireland is united then relations between her and Britain will be as good as those between any two countries in the world."

De Valera denied that he had come over to enlist American support behind the Irish in their long campaign to annex the six northern counties still under British control. But he said American backing had been helpful in the past and he wouldn't mind it a bit if it helped unite all Ireland.

"If a man takes your watch and chain and then gives your watch back," he smiled, "you still want the chain, too."

Someone wanted to know if there was any trading done between north and south Ireland, and De Valera laughed and tugged at his plain black suit.

"Yes—licit and illicit."

Must Arbitrate

He said he saw no hope for peace in the world until the powers, big and little, agreed to arbitrate their differences.

How about arbitrating the question of northern Ireland?

"I am afraid," De Valera smiled again, "that question is too close to the hearts of the Irish people. I don't believe they'd agree to outside arbitration."

He retains the dry humor he showed a quarter-century ago on his release from a British prison. Then, returning to the public platform on which he had been arrested ten months before, Dev began:

"As I was saying when I was interrupted..."

The fire has died down but he still has the gift of words.

Whether the muffler is at fault can be determined by disconnecting the exhaust pipe and noting if there is any improvement in performance of the motor.

Conference to Affect Exchange Pact Fails

New York, March 10 (AP)—A mediation conference to engineer an agreement between the New York Stock Exchange and an A.F.L. union failed to break a long-existing deadlock yesterday and a union spokesman said that "when the strike comes it will come suddenly."

The meeting brought "no narrowing" of the gap between Exchange officials and the A.F.L. United Financial Employe Local 205, the local's president, M. David Keefe, said. He added the Exchange "maintains its original take-it-or-leave-it attitude."

No date was set for another mediation session.

Keefe said his union had scaled down its original demands for a union shop and wage increases of $9 weekly for employes now getting less than $40, and $15 for those receiving $40 or more. He did not elaborate but declared any strike called "will be on the basis of our original demands."

The union also has threatened a strike against the Curb Exchange and several Exchange member firms.

Health for All

Climate, Tuberculosis

Just as the Spanish explorer Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of youth, people at one time hoped to find the "magic climate" that would cure tuberculosis.

Thanks to our constantly increasing knowledge of the disease, we know that these long and expensive journeys to a special kind of climate are unnecessary. With bed rest and good sanatorium care the majority of tuberculosis patients have good prospects for recovery anywhere in the country, regardless of climate.

We know today that rest and sanatorium care are more important to the tuberculous patient than a change of climate. If you have been told that you have tuberculosis, you would be wise to go to a sanatorium near your home. Each one of the 48 states, and many counties, have one or more tuberculosis sanatoriums to care for tuberculous patients within the state or county. In many instances, the state takes the entire financial burden.

The doctor knows that it is the quality of treatment that you get, not the climate, that is most important to your cure. He will tell you that your most helpful aids will be the able physicians, experienced nurses and closely supervised rest programs that are found in all good sanatoriums.

As a matter of fact, many victims of tuberculosis have delayed or made cure impossible by wasting time, money and energy in long trips to distant mountain or desert atmospheres.

Mental relaxation as well as physical care is necessary to your recovery. You are more likely to get it when you are in comparatively familiar surroundings and near your family and friends. Fresh air is important to tuberculous patients, but fresh air can be obtained in the sanatorium near your home.

10 Jersey Mayors Protest Railroad's Proposed Slashes

Washington, March 10 (AP)—The mayors of 10 New Jersey municipalities banded together here yesterday to protest a proposed reduction in railroad services which they said would make "ghost towns" of their communities.

The group came to Washington to oppose a bondholders' reorganization plan which would enable the Central Railroad of New Jersey to cut its commuter services if its losses on passenger operations exceed $1,000,000 over a two-year period.

The mayors testified before Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner J. C. Walsh that the railroad was a major link from their communities to Newark, New York and Philadelphia. Curtailed services, they said, would cause numerous residents to move from the towns.

Several mayors said they thought another fare increase might be favorably received by commuters if a compensating improvement in service was provided. The railroad had been granted two passenger fare increases last year.

Sponsors of the reorganization plan who testified at a previous hearing last December said its purpose was to permit the railroad to eliminate stops that are located close to each other.

Three Negroes Identified As Men Who Killed Grocer

New York, March 10 (AP)—Three Negroes on trial for first degree murder were identified yesterday in Bronx County Court by Mrs. Ida Siskind, 56, of 543 Union avenue, the Bronx, as the men who held up her and her husband, Abraham, on March 1, 1947, in his grocery store at 1410 Washington avenue, the Bronx.

Siskind, who was struck over the head with a length of iron pipe during the robbery, died of a skull fracture five days later in Morrisania Hospital.

Mrs. Siskind, told Bronx County Judge Harry Stackwell and a jury that Davic Wright, 47, of 2581 Eighth avenue, blocked her at the front door during the holdup and that Clarence Edwards, 34, of 11 West 117th street, dragged her to the rear of the shop behind a counter when she remonstrated with the men.

At that point, Mrs. Siskind testified, Cyrus Patton, 32, of 1 East 117th street, another defendant, struck her over the head with a bottle of soda water, stunning her.

DRIVE WITH CAUTION

Highway users are urged to drive with extreme caution during the next few weeks in which pavement irregularities will prevail as a result of underground frost action.

The season of the year when frost heaves cause bad bumps and other distortions of highway pavements is now with us, according to the superintendent of operation and maintenance of New York State Department of Public Works.

Distortions on concrete pavements, result from uneven melting of ice lenses which form below ground during the winter resulting in a temporary irregular pavement surface which will correct itself within a short time. Frost boils, which frequently result in holes on macadam type pavements also result from such frost action. Such conditions constitute a problem and place upon the driver an added responsibility for the utmost care.

NEW STATE INCOME FORM

Taxpayers have received Form 200 of the New York State Income Tax, which is designed to save a lot of time and trouble for those having income only from wages, salaries, commissions, dividends or interest or a combination of these.

The new forms, which are check-sized cards, known as an optional form, were made possible by the new ten per cent flat deduction provision of the law. Under this method, the taxpayer this year for the first time is allowed to deduct ten per cent, up to $500, of his gross income in place of itemizing and substantiating allowable individual deductions. The new provision applies to resident and non-resident taxpayers alike.

EYE BANK

Not long ago a "run on the bank" was threatened in New York City, which alarmed medical circles, not Wall Street. Requests from surgeons came, almost simultaneously, for 36 eyes from the eye bank.

The demand would have exhausted the available supply. A press and radio appeal to the public resulted in responses sufficient to meet the need in two days. The eyes were dispatched by airlines to various parts of the world and today the eyesight of many of the patients has been restored.

This is the way the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration at New York, Boston and New Orleans works and this is the way public cooperation makes it possible to work.

The unique institution was established more than two years ago as a means of implementing great advances in surgical techniques. Among them there is none more spectacular than the utilization of the corneal tissue from the eyes of the dead for transplantation in the eyes of the living in certain types of eye disorders.

WORLD SERVICE CENTER

A large part of the cost of any program for material relief consists of operating expenses. This has seemed impossible to avoid, but in at least one instance it has been reduced almost to nothing.

The Church World Service Center, which operates in New Windsor, Md., a small community in the Blue Ridge Mountains, turned in a year-end financial report as follows:

"Production: (for 38 countries in Europe and Asia) 4,875,855 pounds of clothing, several thousand tons of food, more than 4,000 kits of Christmas toys, about 2,000 head of dairy cattle, and several thousand pounds of soap and candles.

"Fixed price: Free.

"Operating costs: Less than 2 per cent."

The center is operated by an interdenominational relief organization, and is one of nine in the United States. Full-time workers number about 100, one-fourth of whom are volunteers, and the rest of whom get 50 cents an hour. Week-ends see an influx of volunteer workers from Washington churches, clubs, scout troops, and government offices. Dormitories and simple food are furnished, and an assembly line technique is used in sorting and packing contributions.

Simple, direct action by workers impelled by sheer good-will has done away with red tape and performed a huge task in the least possible time and with minimum expense. Some of this talent might well be drawn on to help in the administration of the European Recovery Program.

If schoolmen are going to start children at the age of three years, why not begin in the cradle?

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE CONDON CASE

Principles of administrative conduct are involved in the Condon Case which transcend the learned doctor, the Secretary of Commerce and even the President himself.

1. Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the National Bureau of Standards, is accused by the FBI and the Thomas Committee of serious indiscretion in the performance of his public duty and his private life related to public duty. So far as the public knows, he is accused neither of disloyalty nor espionage. Nevertheless, it is known, from the general tenor of the gossip attending the Special Federal Grand Jury, sitting in New York, that there has been disloyalty and espionage in connection with the atom bomb. That makes any reference to an individual in connection with the atom bomb significant.

2. In relation to the Condon Case, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed a letter to Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, in whose department the Bureau of Standards is situated. Dr. Condon is, therefore, an employe of the American people, receiving a salary from their agent, the Treasury of the United States.

3. Averell Harriman refuses to release the letter in "the public interest." He does not state what the public interest is but requires that the Thomas Committee accept his obiter dictum as final. Mr. Harriman is neither by the Constitution nor by his personal qualifications entitled to determine this question alone.

The power of Congress to investigate the conduct of employes of the American government is so well established by law and precedent that Mr. Harriman's attitude can only be described as presumptuous. Congress will without doubt take care of that in the proper lawful manner.

4. Only Secretary Harriman, Attorney General Tom Clark or the President can order the letter to be made public. J. Edgar Hoover, a subordinate of the Attorney General, is not in a position to make it public without the Attorney General's consent. Therefore, the letter remains secret because Averell Harriman, Tom Clark and the President wish it to remain secret. That letter from J. Edgar Hoover to Averell Harriman must contain some extremely important data to have frightened these gentlemen into making it an issue in an election year.

It throws additional light on the conduct of the Special Federal Grand Jury in New York and the many rumors concerning the quarrel between the FBI and the White House as to what national security really requires. Certainly the report that three top persons who were members of the Communist cell organized in 1934 have been let off despite FBI evidence is startling. Yet, it must be noted, none of these rumors, mounting to a furor, may be true.

5. It is because of the queer rumors concerning the Special Federal Grand Jury in New York and speculation concerning the Hoover-Harriman letter, that Dr. Condon, if he possesses all the virtues that he claims for himself, should demand its immediate publication. As a volunteer public relations counsel, I advise him that he will be suspect all his life unless that letter is published. No other means can exonerate him. No specially created government agency can exonerate him. Only publication of the Hoover-Harriman letter can lead to exoneration—if it does. Secretary Harriman has done Dr. Condon incalculable mischief by his presumptuousness in refusing to produce the letter. The conclusion must be, until the letter is published, that Dr. Condon and Mr. Harriman fear it.

6. The atomic scientists have set themselves off as a class apart, demanding privileges which are not available to Americans of other occupations. Exemption from suspicion and attack is no one's right, certainly not anyone on the public payroll. It is the American way of protecting the country from corruption. It is a better way than the Gestapo or the G.P.U. employed.

Every man in public life must submit to constant scrutiny. Even in private life, such scrutiny is constant. Credit bureaus, Bishop's Proudfoot's, Dun and Bradstreet's exist for such purposes. The character committees of Bar Associations exist for that purpose. The atomic scientists had better get off their high horses or we shall have to regard them not only as Great Brains but also as Swollen Heads.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

EARLY RISING AFTER OPERATION

It might be thought that, owing to the scarcity of beds in private rooms and wards of hospitals, this new idea of letting patients up on the same day they undergo an operation, is to make room for more patients. When we remember that a few years ago patients remained in bed for a couple of weeks after an operation and were up and about their room for perhaps another week before going home, this early rising after an operation and a short stay in a hospital is a decided change.

I have written before about the advantages of the early rising, in that it helps digestion, respiration, circulation of the blood and raises the morale of the patient. One surgeon had his patient drive his car to the hospital Monday afternoon, undergo operation for hernia Tuesday, and drive his car home Thursday afternoon. Of course, in hernia there is no pus condition. But driving a car, making sudden turns with the steering wheel, jamming on the brakes if necessary, would seem to put a strain on the abdominal muscles too soon after the operation.

However, as this early rising after an operation and a short stay in the hospital now has been tried for a considerable time, it is interesting to learn the after-effects as compared with those of former days.

In the "South African Medical Journal," Drs. W. A. Pocock and W. Kark review the results of early rising in 629 abdominal operations. The results are considered under two main headings: The promotion of rapid mental and physical restoration to normal, and the effect of the early rising on complications following the operation.

What were the findings in this large number of abdominal operations, which is a good test of the effects of early rising?

Drs. Pocock and Kark found a great reduction in the number of lung complications (pneumonia embolus) and a reduced number of high blood pressure (coronary thrombosis and apoplexy) complications. Early rising after an operation does not interfere with the healing of wounds, does not increase the number of cases of poisoning of wounds, does not increase the risks of breaking down the sutures in a wound, and it is not followed by an increase in hernia following operation.

"Now if I Can Stay Out of the Rough!"

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Believing that the privilege of a free press carries an obligation on that press to inform the public, I continue to publish documents which, if he wrote them, may bear on the mentality of a politician who has been selected by the Communist traitors and endorsed by the traitorous Communist press as a candidate for President of the United States. That man is Henry A. Wallace.

I have sought by every means possible to have Mr. Wallace tell me personally whether or not he wrote them to no avail, and I again ask him to state publicly whether or not he wrote those letters.

I believe the author of these letters was off-center mentally. They were sent to the late Prof. Nicholas Roerich, a Russian who was persona grata with the Moscow dictators and affected divine airs, and to other persons.

To continue: another letter of the series says:

"Dear Prof. R.

"I have been striving to find time to write you ever since our evening together last week. My first opportunity comes now on the train to Philadelphia. There is nothing of unusual significance to report. Long have I been aware of the occasional fragrance from that other world which is the real world. But now I must live in the outer world and at the same time make over my mind and body to serve as fit instruments for the Lord of Justice. The changes in awareness must come as a result of steady, earnest recollectedness. I shall strive to grow as rapidly as possible without undue violence.

"I am planning on being in N. Y. April 14, attending two different meetings and I do not know yet just what hour of the day I will have available for the visit with the 'Heart Trust.' Yes the chalice is filling. ('Heart Trust' and 'Chalice' are terms that were used by the faithful in a cult of believers in Roerich's mystical powers and/or divinity. W. P.)

"I judge George (the professor's son. W. P.) and Mr. R. are making satisfactory progress and when the right time comes I will have a good talk with Mr. Mac so that as good a background as possible can be built up. (Ryerson and MacMillan are two distinguished scientists who were placed in a degraded professional status by Wallace in connection with an expedition to Asia financed by the Department of Agriculture and headed by Roerich, the God-man. W. P.)

"Saturday night, after a very strenuous day, my eyes did not focus properly and I had to attend a senatorial dinner. I remembered the lovely gift of musk and rose and a pinch of it cleared up my vision like magic. Thanks to the Tara, Madam R. (This vague allusion may be explained only at length. W. P.)

"I am looking forward (S.I.C.) with joy to seeing George's book on Tibetan paintings. These evenings, before I go to bed, I read 'Fiery Stronghold'. (One of the God-man's books. W. P.) Also I am having some fortune in setting certain decentralizing forces in motion. Humbly I am striving with hope to serve as an instrument to do my part. My highest regards to the Heart Trust, the guardians of the stone and chalice." This is signed with the initials "H.A.W."

Another, typewritten, whereas the letters previously quoted were handwritten, runs:

"Dear Madam and Professor Roerich, I address you as one because in a certain sense I look on you as one. It has been a gracious experience to confer with ——— about the greatest hopes and prospects. The time is austere and the tension great but the simple intensity of purpose of ——— brings fire from the heights. Disappointments are frequent and difficulties great but we hope for much because of the obvious imminency of the times. The earth bent, the Indian rhythm of ancient America, haunts me like a faint fragrance from the past while I strive to center my complete forces on the pressing problems of the day. There are so many intimacies suggested like the smell of old lavendar, from the past.

"I have read with much interest your discussion of the difference between the leader and the ruler. How marvelous to sense the potential and help to manifest it. How splendid to be a religious teacher and help others also to sense the potential. The air is alive with potentialities. We act with lightning speed. When will come the day of the blooming of beauty, of the infinitely sad joyousness of afternoon sunshine through the yellow aspen leaves on the mountain slope? The golden, lovely beauty, before we pass through the curtain. Some day I hope to talk with you in September in the Himilayas.

"I shall obey the gita (oriental teaching. W. P.) and ——— who is as remorseless as krishna. (A divinity. W. P.) May the presence of the great ones be even as you say. We shall fight in the joy of the remembrance of the predestined future." Initialed in a symbolic monogram ———" H. A. W."

Another letter: "Dear Prof. Roerich: in these days of fiery trouble, we also find opportunity for doing many things. The indications of morya through modra (mystical references. W. P.) have governed under the most difficult circumstances, surrounding the one toward whom my efforts have been addressed are many loyal to his personality but false to his ideals. (Apparently refers to F. D. Roosevelt. W. P.) This extraordinary sliminess makes even simple problems difficult at times. The one has a lovely, upward-surging spirit with a certain appreciation of what he calls 'hunches.' Combined with this is a charming open mindedness which makes him the prey at times of designing people—for example, the tigers, (Russians), this past week I have talked on this matter both to him and the sour one (Cordell Hull, secretary of state. W. P.) in the most emphatic terms.

"The true pleasure in times like these is to turn occasionally to the consideration of the search as conducted by such as Appolonius, Origen or Akbar. This steadfast search, this throwing of the light ahead, this preparation for world cultural unity will make it possible for the human spirit to explore and appreciate the most undreamed of beauty. It is the opportunity for such appreciation by the deserving ones of the multitude that we are striving to purchase with our efforts. We hope to see you not only in this country but also against the background of the snowy peaks. Work to do and bliss to contemplate." There is no closing. The monogram "H. A. W." is present beneath the initials "M.R." of significance unknown to me.

Another letter: "Dear Guru (spiritual teacher): I have been thinking of you holding the casket —the sacred, most precious casket, and I have thought of the new country going forth, to meet the seven stars under the sign of the three stars, and I have thought of the admonition, 'Await the Stones'.

"We await the stone and we welcome you again to this glorious land of destiny, clouded though it may be with strange, fumbling fears, who shall hold up the compelling vision to those who wander in darkness? In answer to this question, we again welcome you. To drive out depression. To drive out fear. We think of the people of Northern Shambhalla and the hastening feet of the successor of Buddha and the lightning flashes and the breaking of the new day.

"And so, I await your convenience prepared to do what I am here to do. May peace, joy and fire attend you always."

This was initialed "G," for Galahad, the name by which Henry A. Wallace was known in this cult regardless of whether he was a member of the cult.

A postscript says "in the great haste of this strange maelstrom which is Washington." (Continued Tomorrow).

Governor Indicted for Murder

Governor Taylor was indicted for the murder of William Goebel who had been his rival in the gubernatorial contest of 1899. At first Taylor was declared elected and he became the governor of the State. Goebel brought charges of corruption and the legislature was to determine who was the legitimate governor of Kentucky. A day before the decision Goebel was shot. Governor Taylor was indicted for the murder together with a number of suspects. He was not cleared of the charge until he was pardoned by Governor Wilson 9 years afterwards.

MacArthur's War Accomplishments Are Not Considered Enough to Expect Electorate's Acceptance of Him as President

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 10—Military heroes have risen to the presidency in America since the founding of the republic, so there is no surprise in the decision of General MacArthur to accept nomination if it is offered to him.

But Washington, Jackson, Taylor, Grant and Theodore Roosevelt were younger men when they became the chief executive—younger than General MacArthur, who was 68 in January.

Without doubt General MacArthur has done an outstanding job in the Far East and possesses more of the glamor of heroism than any other military man of today. The assumption, however, that this qualifies him for the presidency is a reflection on the intelligence of the electorate. For it means that the citizens vote for a name or a reputation and do not concern themselves with actual experience or personal qualifications for the highest post in the government.

Curiously enough, of all the military men of our times, General MacArthur is perhaps the broadest in intellectual stature. He has also the most powerful attributes of leadership.

But the presidency is not a place for retired generals who have finished their military careers. It is a place for men of intimate experience with the art of civilian government itself—the art of adjustment of majority and minority interests in the legislative approach to national problems and of the adjustment also of economic interests as between the various classes which make up our complex society.

General MacArthur is a great man. He is just and fair. Had he chosen national politics thirty or forty years ago, he might well have been president before now. His aptitude for national questions is extraordinary. This correspondent first knew MacArthur as a major in the War Department in 1916. He was the most popular public-relations officer of those troublous times which preceded our entry into World War I. He would debate on almost any subject, from the tariff of taxation and from foreign policy to labor relations. He has an all-around interest in public affairs. If perchance he were elected president he would not be as rigid as some of the military men who have held civilian office subsequent to their military service.

General MacArthur is forthright when he says he would accept if asked to serve. He differs with General Eisenhower by stating that a call to the presidency is a call to public service which no man can really refuse.

Logic is on the side of General MacArthur only on that point. General Eisenhower perceived the dangers of introducing into the presidency a man unacquainted with the forces of political life. General MacArthur, for instance, has been out of the United States a substantial part of his adult life. He does not have the feel of American economics nor of the pressures for position which make up the conflicts between groups and which—whether one likes it or not—produce the chief task of reconciliation and adjustment for a president of the United States and a party leader.

General MacArthur is accustomed to giving orders and to writing directives. As party leader, he would find himself the recipient of orders from the political groups that influence the day-by-day conduct of party government, especially in congress.

There is something disappointing in the theory that the American people will vote for a well-advertised name about whose capacity to perform the duties of the presidency they know little and will not vote for less popular figures who are admittedly trained by experience for the presidency.

Dewey as governor of New York two times, Stassen as a former governor of Minnesota, Taft as a senator elected twice from one of the most populous states in the union, Vandenberg re-elected senator by the state of Michigan in November 1946 by the largest majority ever achieved in that state and after a campaign in which he took little part due to absence abroad on public business, and Earl Warren who was elected governor of California after receiving the nomination of both political parties—these are the men being prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination, and any one of them would make a better president of the United States than a retired general.

Once General MacArthur were nominated, he would be transformed from the military hero to an ordinary politician. Leaving a highly critical post in Japan to enter into the rough and tumble of American politics, he would find the burden of explaining why he had done so and what he believes on public questions almost more than could be handled in the brief months of campaigning that precede a national election.

If your reason for lack of home ownership is lack of finance, you are only fooling yourself. A home of your own can be financed much simpler than you may think . . . as a matter of fact, the rent you are now paying, may be in excess of what your home buying payments would be . . . and you have nothing to show for it but rent receipts. Cadillac

PRESENTS

THE New STANDARD OF THE WORLD!

White Sidewall Tires available at additional cost.

Today, the world has a new standard by which to measure motor cars. For Cadillac, long the world's standard, has taken a great stride forward—one of the greatest, perhaps, in its entire history of automotive pioneering. As is always the case when a new Cadillac is introduced, the advancement embraces every phase of automotive goodness. The exterior appearance is wholly new, and represents the soundest principles developed in years of continuous research. Interior design and finish are a complete departure, and add immeasurably to comfort, beauty and convenience. Performance is finer in every way, for the great Cadillac chassis and engine have been thoroughly refined. And vital improvements in factory equipment have raised even Cadillac's high standards of manufacturing. In fact, all the attributes which have contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the world's premier motor car have been made more pronounced. Regardless of the price class from which you expect to select your next car, you are cordially invited to view the new Cadillac—now on display in our showrooms. When the standard of the automotive world has been so decidedly raised, it should be of interest to everyone.

Cadillac's basic characteristics of design are fully apparent in the front view of the 1948 model. Bumper and grille are even more massive. The symbolic V and crest have been refined to harmonize with new, low hood lines. Larger, lower-pressure tires add to both appearance and comfort.

Viewed from the rear, the 1948 Cadillac shows a complete departure in design. The full-width rear window improves appearance and safety. Smart "rudder-type" fenders, protected by sturdy bumper uprights, give a touch of fleetness to long, flowing body lines.

Freedom

Freedom, as world events have taught us, isn't free like the air we breathe. It isn't from everlasting to everlasting. It was won by bitter struggle, and it can be lost with tragic ease, if we Americans are content to take it for granted.

The lesson of our time is that freedom must be earned, in each generation, by our integrity and ability as citizens.

Either we continue to earn it, or we shall wake up some morning to find that it has slipped through our fingers, as it slipped through the hands of so many other people in the world. A dictatorship will have taken it from us.

The father of the household was becoming impatient at the lateness of the hour, when he said:

Father: "I can't see why that young twirp calling on Sophia hasn't sense enough to go home. It's past midnight."

The inevitable little brother spoke up and said:

Little Brother: "He can't go, father; sister's sitting on him."

A minister was to conduct the funeral of the town wastrel whose life had been such that not a great deal of good could be said of him. Even his widow understood that. Nevertheless, the pastor wanted to say something on the complimentary side if he could, and it occurred to him to scan the floral wreaths with their cards of sympathy.

The man had been a volunteer fire fighter and the hook-and-ladder boys had sent a beautiful floral piece. "This ought to have something if anything does," the preacher thought.

He was sadly disillusioned. Worked neatly into the design in red roses was this statement: "Gone to his last fire."

A return to large families is urged by a worried sociologist who, suggests the Detroit News, will have plenty of support if he knows of a way to fill up a family of seven children.

In one town, the police arrested a man for laughing when there was nothing funny. If that is an offense, a whole radio studio audience could be arrested for it.

Severe Cold Wave Strikes Midwest

Chicago, March 10 (AP)—The middle part of the nation was numbed by a severe cold wave today.

Temperatures of from zero to as low as 35 below extended over the north and central Rockies and the northern plains eastward to the Great Lakes region. The mercury dropped in some sections to the lowest of the winter season.

Thermometers at Grand Forks, N. D., dipped to 35 below zero early today. The sub-zero belt extended as far south as Goodland, Kans., which reported a minimum of one below.

Heavy rains reported in the south-eastern states diminished but rain fell today in the eastern Gulf and Middle Atlantic States.

40-Hour Week Is Set for Printers

New York, March 10 (AP)—The Printing League Section, New York employing printers, said last night notices of a lengthened work schedule—40 hours instead of the present 36¼ hours—would be posted in affiliated plants today. The extra time would be at straight-time pay.

The employers' organization represents major job and book publishing companies in the city's $300,000,000-a-year commercial printing industry.

A. F. Oakes, president of the Printers League Section, said his organization's action stemmed from the "refusal" of the A.F.L. International Typographical Union "to permit collective bargaining" by its New York local, Typographical Union No. 6.

He accused international officers of the union with threatening to promote slowdowns and other disruptions, leaving employers "no alternative but to establish a working arrangement that will remain in effect until a new contract is negotiated."

The employers' move was attacked by Laurence Victory, president of the local.

"In face of the fact that Local 6 is sincerely desirous of working out a satisfactory settlement without any interruption of work, this action of the printing employers constitutes a clear refusal to bargain in good faith and is in the nature of a lockout designed to provoke a strike."

Oakes, declaring the employers had "no quarrel" with the local, said his organization "will be very pleased to meet with Local 6 at any time it can obtain authority to bargain for a contract within the law and of reasonable duration."

blind. It is said he was able to recognize instantly his many acquaintances by their voices.

The printing firm now known as C. M. Thomas Sons was founded in 1884 by Charles M. Thomas at 138 West Strand. About 1893 the shop was moved to its present location at 23 Crown street.

The two sons took over the business upon the death of the father in 1908. It was operated jointly by them until January, 1947, when Herbert E. Thomas, retired, turned over the business to Arthur E., who has continued to operate it with his two sons.

Arthur E. Thomas was a lifelong member of St. James Methodist Church and he was also a member of the Ulster County Farm Bureau.

Surviving are his wife, Eleanor M. Eckert; a daughter, Miss Eleanor S. Thomas and two sons, Clarence E., and Edward B. Thomas; and a brother, Herbert E. Thomas, all of this city. Four grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street, Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the family plot in Montrepose cemetery.

The auto, traveling south on the route, first struck the hard-packed snow along the highway before hitting the pole which it broke off at its base, the report said. The electric service was not disrupted.

The time of the accident was fixed at 3 a. m., and the report said the badly damaged auto was towed to a garage in Highland.

New York Becomes 20th State to Vote Limitation On Presidential Tenures

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—New York is the 20th state to approve the proposed constitutional amendment to limit U. S. Presidents to two terms.

The Assembly, over solid Democratic opposition, voted 103-43 yesterday to limit presidential tenures. The Senate passed the amendment 40-13 last month.

Governor Dewey, a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, had urged the G.O.P.-controlled legislature to endorse the amendment which must be approved by 36 states before becoming effective.

In other developments:

1. The Senate passed and sent to the Assembly a bill to permit use of 1948 motor vehicle license plates through 1949.

2. The Assembly gave final legislative approval to measures which would spare children under 16 years of age from trial for murder.

3. Governor Dewey received for signature bills continuing for another year the state personal income tax exemption for members of the armed forces, and mandating American history instruction in high schools.

Democrats, who opposed the two-term presidential amendment on legal and political grounds, were joined by one Republican in voting against the measure. He was Assemblyman William J. Droman of the Bronx.

The only American Labor Party member in the larger house, Samuel Kaplan of Brooklyn, also voted "no" to the proposal.

Democratic Assemblyman Owen D. McGivern of New York city contended that approval of the amendment by the Republican-controlled House of Representatives last year was invalid. He argued that the required quorum was not present when the House adopted the resolution.

The amendment would prohibit election to the presidency more than twice or more than once in the case of a person who had held the office for more than two years.

This, in effect, would limit possible maximum service to 10 years where a President completed a term to which another was elected.

New York state motorists will receive windshield stickers instead of new license plates next year if the bill approved unanimously today by the Senate is passed by the Assembly and signed by the governor.

Republican Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens, sponsor, said the State Motor Vehicle Bureau requested the measure because it had been unable to obtain sufficient steel for 1949 plates.

Continues State Tax

Bill continuing, until July 1, 1949, the state personal income tax exemption on income of armed force members and requiring American history instruction in high schools received final legislative approval in the Senate and were sent to Dewey for signature.

The Senate also passed and sent to the Assembly a measure incorporating Dewey's proposal to establish a $1,250,000 revolving fund for loans to schools awaiting federal reimbursement for school lunches.

Dewey said last week the school lunch program had been "hindered" by delays in federal reimbursement to the schools. The legislature last month appropriated $3,200,000 to round out federal school lunch grants until March 31, 1949.

The Assembly followed the Senate's lead and approved a proposed constitutional amendment to remove the $1,000,000 on housing subsidy contracts that the state may enter into in any one year. Unaffected by the measure is the $5,000,000 ceiling on subsidies outstanding at one time.

Approves Smoke Bill

The Senate approved, 30-19, a bill which would authorize the Public Service Commission to order abatement of smoke, soot and cinders from steam locomotives. Senator Pliny Williamson, Westchester Republican, introduced the measure which goes to the Assembly for approval.

Meanwhile, theatre men continued to oppose the Fino-Clancy bill to detail uniformed firemen to theatres. They have described the bill as "featherbedding at its worst."

Although Democratic Assemblyman William E. Clancy, co-sponsor, amended the measure to cover only theatres offering "live" entertainment, the theatre men said they would continue to oppose the bill. They contended the amended bill would affect every establishment where entertainment of any type by performers was on the program.

Date on Reports Set

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—New York state income tax withholding agents have been given until March 25 to file returns and pay taxes on income of non-residents. The State Tax Commission also advised the agents—New York employers of non-residents who earn their income in the state—that 40 per cent of the tax has been "forgiven." The agents were given the additional 10 day extension to revise returns in accordance with legislation signed last week by Governor Dewey permitting the 40 per cent "forgiveness."

Day to Get Award

Hollywood, March 10 (AP)—Singer Dennis Day will receive the annual screen and radio award of the Ancient Order of Hibernians on March 17. Day, whose real name is Eugene Patrick McNulty, was announced winner yesterday. He will be presented with a statuette of St. Patrick by Maureen O'Sullivan, last year's winner.

Girl Scouts Have Booth in Exhibition At Auditorium

While the Kingston area is on parade this week in the Municipal Auditorium, the Ulster County Girl Scout Council will greet all visitors at one of the many attractive and interesting booths. The council thanks the Lions Club for its generosity in making Girl Scout representation possible.

The Girl Scouts will present one of the samples of clothing kits which are a major project of the council this year. Since there are 62 registered troops in the county at present, the Girl Scouts are attempting to send to needy girls and boys in less fortunate European and Oriental countries 124 of these kits before December, 1948.

There will also be displayed arts and crafts projects from the different troops and pictures of Camp Wendy, Wallkill.

Adult scouts of the Kingston District, both leaders, district committee and council members, will be in attendance at the booth, to tell Lions Club guests of the recent developments in Girl scouting throughout the county and to explain the need for the $12,000 goal for the Girl Scouts Finance Campaign which will begin the middle of this month.

Those who will be in attendance at the booth are the following: the Mines. Reynolds Van Keuren, Ronald Latz, Albert Kurdt, Warren Klas, John Valentine, Frank Grancy, Peter Hornbeck, Robert Teetsel, Walter Jeghers and Vincent Connelly; the Misses Madeline Berg, Marguerite Flaherty and Mildred Sgrol.

REMARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENT

I feel especial pleasure in helping with the problem described as follows: "I've been divorced for five years and have two half-grown children who have lived with me during this separation, but see their father frequently. He and I have decided that our parting was all a mistake and that we will remarry. The children are 'ecstatic' and would like us to send announcements so that everyone can share our happiness. Would announcements be proper under these circumstances?"

Guest of Honor Was Speechless

Dear Mrs. Post: I was guest of honor at a shower recently. After opening and admiring all of the presents I turned to the guests and thanked them all generally. Now I'm told that I should have thanked each one immediately after opening her gift.

Answer: I don't know quite how you did this because as you opened each present, it would have been natural to look at the donor and make some comment about it. In other words, I can't imagine how you opened the packages one after another without speaking.

Meaning of "Esquire"

Dear Mrs. Post: Won't you please explain exactly the meaning of "Esquire" after a man's name.

Answer: It is the same exactly as writing "John Smith, Gentleman." Its use in America has become almost obsolete except for the personal correspondence of fastidiously conservative persons.

So many requests have been made for details in setting a table for formal dinners that Mrs. Post has written a leaflet entitled, "Table Setting," E-30. Your baby's health is his heritage and it's up to you, as parents, to give him every chance to grow up straight and strong.

Doctors say that babies can be protected against most diseases in four ways:

(1) By feeding the baby enough clean, nutritious, digestible food.

(2) By keeping the baby away from sick people.

(3) By giving the baby special protection (inoculation) against illness such as diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough, and so on.

And finally, (4) By paying special attention to your health (as the mother) during the nursing period.

The common cold is childhood's worst enemy. Take every precaution against it. When mother has a cold, she should wear a gauze mask over her nose and mouth when handling the baby.

Naturally, friends or relatives suffering from colds must be kept away entirely.

Should baby get sick, however, you want to know what to do, how to meet the emergency and make baby comfortable until the doctor arrives. The Kingston Daily Freeman has prepared a baby care booklet to guide you over the rough spots. Chapters on baby's bath, toilet routine, development, too.

Twentieth Century Club Hears Book Review of 'Mother Russia'

Twentieth Century Club met Monday with Mrs. G. N. Wood, 197 Bruyn avenue. May 19 was set as the date of the banquet and final meeting of the year. Mrs. W. S. McNab will be the speaker.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Whitford gave a book review of "Mother Russia," by Maurice Hindus, correspondent for the Herald Tribune and author. Mrs. Whitford is acquainted with the author and her book was an autographed copy.

She introduced the book with a brief sketch of Mr. Hindus, who came to the United States from Russia at the age of 14. He worked on farms and among the people, that he might learn to speak and think the English language. He later attended Colgate and Yale and became an American citizen. He has made several visits to Russia during which he gathered material for his books.

Mrs. Whitford read from the book, "Mother Russia," regarding the training of the Russian youth who are taught to sacrifice unto death for Mother Russia. They are drilled in schools on love of country. The children mature rapidly and live outdoor rugged lives, she said.

She spoke of the two five-year plans which have been completed in four years of the constant pushing and driving of the people to bring Russia up to the standard of the other countries. The book noted that no foreign missionaries are allowed in Russia but the children learn of religion through their grandmothers. The women are taught engineering, agriculture, and the use of war machinery. They also belong to trade unions. The dream and promise of sometime owning their own homes and property is always before the Russian people, she concluded.

A discussion followed the review.

The club will meet March 22 with Mrs. William Soper, 287 West Chestnut street, when Mrs. Soper will continue her talk on her life in Russia.

Dismuke Jailed In Lieu of Fine Imposed in Court

Samuel Dismuke, 36, of 40 Meadow street, who was arrested on a warrant on Tuesday for recent disturbances at Norman Farber's meat market, 46 Chambers street, received a sentence of $25 or 25 days in the Ulster county jail today and a further sentence of 90 days pending good behavior when he appeared before City Judge Matthew V. Cahill.

The court sentence read that should Dismuke further interfere with the Farber family, he will be sentenced to serve the full 90 days in the Ulster county jail. Dismuke was later taken to the county jail in lieu of the $25 fine, the police said.

Today's case resulted in two recent complaints made to the police department by Farber on the breaking of several windows in his downtown store.

Harry Gold represented the people during this morning's case.

Other Court Cases

Anthony Paige, 5 Hobart street, Utica, who was arrested by Officer Carl Janasiewicz about 10:45 p. m., on Tuesday for parking on a cross walk, forfeited $2 bail when he failed to appear.

Arthur G. Benderwald, 58, and Ephraim Decker, 65, both of Sleightsburgh, who were arrested on public intoxication charges, were sentenced to 10 days each in the Ulster county jail.

Charles Labeause, who was arrested early Tuesday morning on a disorderly conduct charge, received a suspended sentence.

The case against John Scully of 38 Abrel street, who was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge Tuesday night, was adjourned until Friday, it was reported.

Promotion Experiences Described to Lions

Experiences in the promotion of commercial and industrial expositions in the city of Hudson were explained to members of the Kingston Lions Club at its luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel, by W. I. Vanderpoel, executive secretary of the Hudson Chamber of Commerce.

Sub-committees to assist with details of the local exposition, "The Kingston Area on Parade," which opened last night at the municipal auditorium, were appointed and instructed as to their respective duties at the local show.

The members also saw a film provided by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and dealing with the eradication of blister rust, a tree disease which has caused wide-spread damage in white pine forests.

Walter Donnarumma, president of the club, announced that attendance has been commendably high. Thomas Davitt, local insurance man has been accepted as a member of the club.

agent as a city official also received favorable comment, although the details of his duties and the manner of appointment or election were not discussed at length. Divided opinion was evident in the matters of a longer term of office for the mayor; what changes, if any, should be made in the board set-up; what body ought to have the power of salary fixing, and other problems.

Besides members of the committee who were present, 11 other persons attended the hearing, which lasted about one hour.

MacArthur Says He Won't Allow Campaign to Rule

General Says He'll Keep Aloof From Issues; Won't Say More for Public

Tokyo, March 10 (AP)—General MacArthur said today he would not allow the presidential campaign to interfere with the occupation of Japan, indicating he intends to remain aloof from campaign issues.

His public relations officer issued a statement that MacArthur's announcement of availability does "not change in the slightest" the operations of headquarters. Requests for a news conference and new, posed pictures were declined.

Col. M. P. Echols, the P.R.O., said the general has nothing to add to yesterday's announcement, which he made as "a private citizen."

Thus it was indicated that MacArthur probably will not go out of his way to clarify his views on subjects other than the international topics he already has discussed. His latest statement on international policy was a recent message supporting military aid to China.

(In Shanghai, China's official Central News Agency said in a Tokyo dispatch: MacArthur recently told a high Chinese official his (MacArthur's) election as president "would be the best thing that could happen to Chiang Kai-Shek." This official was quoted as saying the general added, however, his election "would be a miracle.")

There has been no indication of MacArthur's views on any domestic United States problem. Observers said it was unlikely he would permit himself to become involved in domestic issues at least before he returns to the United States.

He has not been in the states since 1937.

The statement issued by Echols obviously came from MacArthur. Correspondents were told that the general would meet them on the same basis as in the past—for off-the-record background conferences on the occupation. Politics are rarely discussed in these meetings.

The statement did not surprise correspondents. The tone of MacArthur's original announcement indicated he would remain aloof from the presidential campaign, at least until he had more of a chance to determine American sentiment.

The general likewise has not been expected to unbend from his position of military commander, even as a potential candidate. Throughout the war period and the occupation, MacArthur has maintained a ramrod dignity in personal appearance and has been generally inaccessible.

One of his inflexible rules prohibits family pictures, or any unusual posed photograph. He has refused to permit any photographs of his embassy residence or of his activities there. That, he says, is his home.

Said one of MacArthur's aides: "If the press desires photos of him during his daily schedule, he will reduce his pace for the cameras. But he will not sit for a posed photo. Neither will he do something thought up by a photographer."

Tokyo buzzed with speculation, notwithstanding official emphasis on business as usual. There is a new phase—"the movement to America"—to apply to those who evidently expect to return home if and when MacArthur leaves.

The newspaper Dai Ichi Shimbun editorialized: "Eighty million Japanese regret that they have no vote to give MacArthur."

The human brain is 79 per cent water.

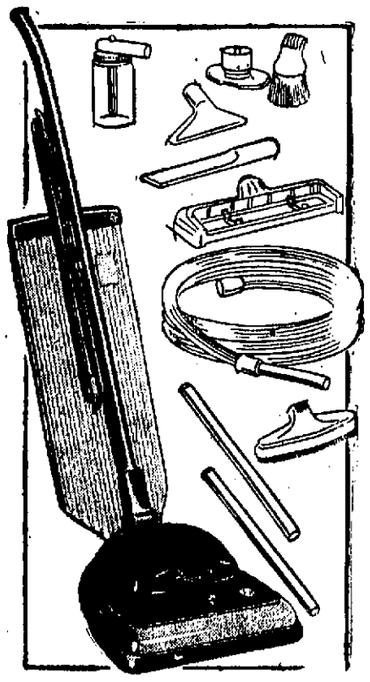

Reports Child Struck

Edward Gray of Atwood reported to the police about 2:20 p. m., on Tuesday, that his car struck a child in front of 175 Hasbrouck avenue. An investigation revealed that the youngster was Barbara Naccarato, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Naccarato of the same address. The report said the child received a slight bruise on her knee. Mrs. Naccarato told the police, it was said, that she did not believe her daughter had been struck but that she was scared and fell to the pavement.

Jan Masaryk

preted here as a Communist maneuver to make use of his name.

His flat endorsement several days later of close cooperation with Russia, coupled with an "I am with you" message to the army and to his "Czech and Slovak brothers," however, seemed to most qualified observers here to mean that he had embarked in a definite course of action. There were two schools as to what that course might be.

One felt he was playing a most dangerous double game.

The other felt he had lent himself to the new government, in the possible hope that he could steer it on a middle course and bring Moscow and the west together in the peace he always insisted must be maintained.

(His death recalled that Dr. Prokop Drtina, the minister of justice before the Communist coup, was found under a window outside his home two days after the Communists took over. Prague police said he had attempted suicide and suffered a serious head injury.)

Masaryk first became foreign minister for the Czech Government in exile on July 8, 1940. He returned to Prague when Czechoslovakia was liberated from the Germans in 1945 and kept the foreign affairs post.

Vaclav Nosek, minister of interior, told the purged Parliament Masaryk hurled himself from his bathroom window. He said the foreign minister had spent the night reading letters and telegrams from England and the United States attacking him for continuing in the Communist government. Numerous cigarette stubs were found on the desk, Nosek said.

All the new cabinet attended the session. A wreath of roses and lilies lay on the bench where Masaryk would have sat.

Masaryk's mother was an American, the former Charlotte Garrigue, of Boston. He was born in Prague. He lived in New York for a period before World War I, working as an office boy, plumber's assistant and a piano player in a movie theatre. He boasted that he knew every alley of New York between Third avenue and the East river.

He spoke often of his American mother. He credited her with having helped to formulate his father's political creed. The couple, he said, worked out the pronouncement that "a nation that is not founded on truth does not deserve to live."

The Czechoslovaks adopted the motto: "Truth conquers."

(The reaction in western capitals to news of Masaryk's death was stunned amazement. A British foreign office spokesman said "nothing could more clearly demonstrate" the character of recent events in Czechoslovakia. Dean Atcheson, former U. S. under secretary of state, said: "I am saddened not only by the tragic circumstances which brought his death, but by the sorrow which must have preceded it."

sidewalk into the gutter. Grunden saw the argument and rushed up. At the same time a Russian sentry rushed over from the front of the hotel.

The sentry attempted to hit Adelman in the groin with the butt of his rifle. Grunden tried to wrest the weapon away. Grunden was struck on the head with the gun and knocked to his hands and knees. The Russian then shot him in the back.

Harper and his girl raced to the American-occupied Bristol Hotel and called for the International Military Police Patrol and an ambulance. When the police arrived, Miss Elias was trying to give first aid to Grunden. She was grabbed by a Russian captain and hustled toward the Grand Hotel.

Ernie Reed, a Stars and Stripes reporter, pulled the girl away from the Russian and called for the police for help. But a cordon of Russian soldiers, bayonets fixed, seized the girl and took her screaming into the hotel.

The police later told Reed they were unable to interfere, although the four-power patrol is supposed to have full authority in any case involving allied soldiers.

The Red Army newspaper in Vienna, Oesterreichische Zeitung, gave the Russian version today. It is totally different from any of the others thus far advanced.

The newspaper said the three Americans were trying to force their way into the Grand Hotel. It said they "dragged the Russian sentry 10 feet from his post," and that the sentry then acted "in full accordance with his instructions."

Kingston High Invited to Meet Section 2 Champions in Playoff

Kingston High School's undefeated DUSO League and Section 9 basketball champions have been invited to meet the winner of Section 2 in a playoff at Convention Hall, Saratoga Springs on Saturday, March 20, Coach G. Warren Kias announced at Kingston High this morning.

The playoff, first of its kind ever sanctioned by the New York State Public High School Athletic Association, is contingent, of course, on a Kingston victory over Newburgh in the Section 9, 1948 finals this Friday night.

Newburgh qualified for the finals by defeating the Nyack High School quintet, 52 to 45, last night.

The NYSPHSAA is believed to have changed its policy because of the brilliant records of the two teams likely to meet in the special attraction—Kingston High and Sig Makofski's Mont Pleasant powerhouse of Schenectady.

Won 44 Straight Games

Mont Pleasant which is favored to survive the Section 2 playoffs Friday and Saturday in the Troy State Armory—compiled a winning streak of 44 straight games before it was whipped by its home town rival, Nott Terrace, early this season. It resumed its winning ways and now boasts 55 victories in its last 56 starts.

Assuming that Kingston defeats Newburgh in the Section 9 finals, it will go to Saratoga Springs with a record of 35 straight wins.

In the Section 2 semi-finals on Friday, Mont Pleasant meets Troy High and Albany High battles Amsterdam.

Convention Hall in Saratoga Springs, former site of New York State League contests is one of the most beautiful basketball layouts in the state. There are 3,000 individual seats in a horseshoe arrangement with unobstructed view of the play from every part of the court. There is unlimited ceiling, glass backboards and no beams of any kind. The press box is elevated on a platform above the main floor. The court is about 80 feet by 40 feet, a great setup for fast-breaking plays.

Playoff Will Be Broadcast

Roy Shudt of Albany, a nationally famous race track and sports announcer, will broadcast play-by-play of the semi-finals this weekend and the March 20 date at Saratoga Springs over Station WROW of Albany. The station operates on 590 kilocycles and comes in at the very top of the dial.

Shudt, who is serving as tub thumper for the contest, said interest in the Kingston and Mont Pleasant teams is so great that contest officials predict a capacity crowd of 3,000 persons.

Sig Makofski, coach of the Mont Pleasant squad is a former professional baseball and basketball player of note. Well known to old time fans, he played baseball with and against the original Kingston Colonials and against "Pop" Morgenweck's professional basketball squads. In recent years he has developed into one of the best golfers in the Eastern New York Golf Association.

with CHARLIE TIANO

● The Man From West Shokan:

Midget auto racing has always seemed to us one of those sports which you either take or leave-with emphasis. There is no middle ground midget fan or devotee. Parenthetically there is no general knowledge among Ulster county fans that right in our midst we have one of the bigger names in the highly specialized field of the miniature motors. You may have heard about Larry Shurter of West Shokan but very likely most of you haven't. We trust the ensuing paragraphs will shed some light on the soft-spoken, blonde-haired, blue-eyed young man who is hell on wheels on midget tracks.

Shurter claims all of 30 years and looks a lot younger. He has spent most of his life in West Shokan which would seem to be the last town in the world likely to spawn a hero of the roaring race tracks.

Larry liked race cars from kid days on and built some so-called road jobs. With these he used to thrill-and-scare neighbors and state troopers. One day in 1935 the steering arm came loose from a "road job" and it proceeded to climb some logs along the road and then roll over. The car was pretty much of a heap of junk but Shurter wasn't deterred. Instead he went on to new interests—bigger cars.

● Started Car in Woodstock:

He frequented every big car speedway within driving distance but bided his time until the mighty midgets put in their first fairly local appearance at Woodstock in 1938. Paying close attention to what equipment was being utilized, Larry started to hunt up a Ford V-8 engine for powering the race car he would build. He kept haunting the pits, striving to land a car to drive but the answer was "no" as soon as it was learned that he had no racing experience.

Eventualy in 1939 Larry completed his car and reported for the season's opening card at Woodstock with practically his entire home town's population in attendance. His gas tanks was wired in and came loose during a heat race, putting him out but he returned to finish third in the consolation and beat many an experienced pilot in so doing.

Working every day, racing Sunday afternoons at either Woodstock or Washington Hollow, N. Y., Shurter gained valuable experience and widened his scope by racing at Springfield, Mass.; Pottstown, Pa.; and Syracuse. That winter he built up a new car, ran it to start the 1940 season but found it to be good only for dirt surfaces, and so began driving for Bill Oliver of Albany.

● Career Guided by Elmer Sefcik:

Meeting up with the late Elmer Sefcik, a pioneer in the midget auto field, Larry took over one of the two Fords Elmer owned. First time out was in the Thompson, Conn., classic of 1941, Larry taking ninth in an all-star field of 100 laps. There was little action in 1942 in midget racing but Larry worked dirt tracks near Buffalo and was competing at Union, N. J., the day the racing ban was announced.

Larry got his greetings from the man in the White House and not long after was assigned to the Motor Corps of the 312th Medical Battalion, 80th Division and before shipping overseas was upped to sergeant. Europe was the stamping grounds for his outfit and he fought under General Patton until July, 1945, when he was returned to the U. S. and discharged at Fort Benning, Ga. in September and reached West Shokan just in time to enter his first post-war race at Middletown, N. Y.

● The Start of Better Breaks:

When Elmer Sefcik died in a road accident in 1943, Larry purchased the two white Fords, drove one while the other was handled by Carl Miller or Len Funnelli. Since his discharge from the Army Larry has been a full time racing man. He soon sold his two Fords bought his reliable "177". The car never did right by Larry being totally demolished at Springfield three weeks after he purchased it. Shurter escaped with a cut chin, re-assembled the gas buggy but soon had the entire front end and cowl smashed in a Bridgeport race. But he has done well since then. Larry has features to his credit at Washington Hollow and Nassau, N. Y. He led the famous Doc Shanebrook at Buffalo for 23 laps in 1946 and got second.

Married to a charming gal, Mavis by name, Larry has her with him in all his racing travels. He spent last winter doing the Cuban circuit.

Pro Hockey Issues Ban On Taylor

Detroit, March 10 (AP)—Billy Taylor, and Don Gallinger, named in National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell's gambling probe, were off professional hockey payrolls today as the official headed back to Montreal after conferring with Detroit Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy.

Campbell, revealing results on his investigation to Michigan Gov. Kim Sigler at Lansing yesterday, expelled Taylor of the New York Rangers from the league and announced indefinite suspension of the Boston Bruins' Gallinger pending further inquiries.

The 23-year-old Boston player, protesting his innocence on betplacing charges to newsmen, immediately mailed an appeal to the NHL president.

Has No Appeal

Taylor, 29, is "out of organized hockey with no right of appeal, league officials said.

Campbell stopped yesterday for a 20-minute conference with Toy who first furnished information connecting gambler James Tamer, convicted bank robber, with the two players.

Campbell declared yesterday that Taylor "authorized Tamer to place for him a bet of $500" on a game between Boston and the Chicago Blackhawks. The bet was on Chicago, Campbell said, but Boston won the contest 4 to 2.

Charges against Gallinger were less specific, and the official said he was suspended "pending further investigation of his associations with James Tamer."

There will be no appeal of Taylor's expulsion, declared Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden and owner of the Rangers.

KBA Entry Helps State in Bid for New High

NYSBA Points For Mark Held By Wisconsin

The Kingston Bowling Association's 11-team entry list will assist the New York State Bowling Association's drive for a new all-time state tournament entry total, State Committeman Charles J. Tiano said today.

Beat Wisconsin!

Sounds like a football chant, doesn't it?

However, it's the rallying cry of the NYSBA the officials of which are confident that the 1948 tournament will beat the all-time state record of 2905 teams set in 1947 by Wisconsin keglers.

The coming New York state tournament will be held in Brooklyn from April 22 until late in May. The biggest Empire state tournament, conducted last year in Syracuse, attracted 1600 teams.

Obenauer Confident

George Obenauer, of Buffalo, state secretary says: "There is much to justify our optimism. Our upstate reservations have reached the imposing total of 1,400 teams."

New York and Brooklyn need but to produce 1500 or more teams and the Badger hold on the all-time record will be broken.

New York Geared

In preparation for the drive for team entries, John Goldsmith, secretary of the New York City Association has created a formidable committee which is conducting a thorough campaign among the 9,000 teams of his organization.

George Woodward, ABC director well known in Kingston, who is watching the coming drive with confidence says: "The bowlers of New York city will do everything possible to match the big entry coming from up-state.

The team event will be held at the State Bowling Center which has 28 alley beds. The doubles and singles title will be decided at the 40-lane Freddy Fitzsimmons Recreation, a stone's throw from Ebbets Field.

45 Local Doubles

In addition to the 11 squads announced yesterday, the Kingston Bowling Association will feature 20 doubles, 45 singles and 45 all-events in the state tourney. Bowlers in the all-events paid $1 extra to qualify for prizes.

The Kingston doubles filed with the entry blanks included: J. Schatzel-J. Ferraro, C. Tiano-H. Broskie, L. Hymes-F. Rice, C. Quick-R. Kelder, H. Spaulding-K. Williams, H. Smith-A. Jones, A. Kieffer-W. Kuehn, R. Jones-H. Wilber, C. Flemings-J. Martin.

Also E. Robinson-G. Robinson, B. Evans-C. Robinson, J. MacLellan-L. Weishaupt, J. Sangi-J. Manfro, F. Spada-P. Masters, L. Peterson-E. Whitaker, J. Costello-J. Sweeney, E. Vogel-C. Grunenwald, H. Wood-H. Van Dousen, J. Blinder-D. Vogel, D. Howard-T. Amato, M. Arlensky-R. Mayone.

Bowlers will receive 75 percent of the difference between their average and a scratch figure of 200 for every event.

Miami Tourney To Middlecoff And Ferrier

Miami, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, a 24-year-old dentist of Memphis, Tenn., and 38-year-old Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, a veteran of the fairways and holder of the P.G.A. title, are the new champions of the Miami International Four Ball Golf Tournament.

The two clinched the victory one up on the 36th hole yesterday from Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., and Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles.

Middlecoff further established himself as one of the coming young professionals of the nation.

He sank a 120-yard iron shot from the rough on the 410-yard 21st hole for an eagle to put his team two up at that point. A few minutes later the match was squared, thanks to an eagle by Vines on the 500-yard 23rd hole. Vines drove the green in two and holed a 30-foot putt.

Furgol and Vines evened the match on the 35th after Middlecoff-Ferrier had held a one up lead since the 29th. On the 36th, however, both Vines and Furgol went one over as Ferrier sank an 18-inch putt to go down in par four.

Ferrier and Middlecoff each picked up checks for $1,250. The runners up received $750 apiece.

The Grapefruit Circuit

Gradenton, Fla., March 10 (AP)—The Boston Braves open their Grapefruit League campaign today against the Cincinnati Reds. Manager Billy Southworth has nominated Pitchers Jim Prendergast, Al Lyons and Clyde Shoun for Mound City.

Sarasota, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Boston Red Sox fielder Johnny Pesky says he will be a better third baseman than he ever was a shortstop—no easy task for a player named to the American League All-Star team in two of his three major league seasons. Vern Stephens will play shortstop.

Ciudad Trujillo, D. R., March 10 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers is happy over the performances of Ray Sanders and Harry Taylor.

Sanders, recently obtained from the Boston Braves, worked out at first base yesterday and apparently his left arm, fractured in 1946, has mended perfectly. Taylor, who had arm trouble last year, warmed up for the first time this spring and said his arm didn't hurt.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 10 (AP)—Ken Trinkle, star New York Giant relief pitcher, is the lone unsigned member of the team. He became the last Giant holdout when shortstop Buddy Kerr agreed to terms yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Johnny Lindell, who became the New York Yankees' regular left fielder when Charley Keller was injured last year, is not resting on his laurels. The hero of the Yanks' World Series triumph, collected three hits and drove home four runs as the Yanks won their first exhibition game of the season, 8-6 from Detroit yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitchers Jim Hearn, Al Brazle and Ken Johnson are slated to face the New York Yankees today in an exhibition game. Manager Eddie Dyer said Stan Musial, 1947 first baseman, would go to right field.

Walcott Set For First Start Since Louis Bout

Chicago, March 10 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott makes his first ring appearance tonight since losing a split decision to Joe Louis in a 15-round title match at New York city last December.

The New Jersey contender squares off in his Chicago debut against Austin Johnson, Atlantic City heavyweight, in a four round exhibition at the Coliseum.

The 34-year-old Negro challenger said he plans to begin intensive drills in April for his return bout with Louis in Yankee Stadium, June 23.

"I've studied movies of my fight with Louis 11 or 12 times," declared Jersey Joe, "and I figure I have the style to beat him. He wasn't any more dangerous than anybody else I've fought."

Since his bout with the champion in December, Walcott has bought and furnished three houses, banked $3,000 "for my six kids' education" and purchased a new automobile.

Senate Passes Fingerprint Law for Boxers

Albany, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—The Senate has approved and sent to the Assembly a bill which provides for the fingerprinting of all applicants for ring licenses.

The Senate's action yesterday was unanimous.

Republican Senator C. Corey Mills of Brooklyn, who sponsored the measure, said the fingerprints would be for the information of the State Boxing Commission only.

The bill is a curtailed version of the boxing and wrestling fingerprint bill which originally would have prohibited the licensing of ex-felons.

Mills said he amended the original measure at the boxing commission's request.

"I think it's a good idea. This way, it lets the commission keep control of boxing and gives them a chance to clean it up themselves."

The measure would provide for fingerprinting of professional boxers, wrestlers, managers, trainers and seconds who apply for licenses. If applicants were corporations, officers of the corporation would be fingerprinted.

A copy of the prints would be filed with the State Department of Correction but could be viewed only upon court order.

A Frank Merriwell shot by Ray Lindhurst in the last second of play climaxed a brilliant comeback by Chez Emile in a spectacular 49-48 triumph over the Otto Clippers in the Y Basketball League.

The Y correspondent said it had to be the "last second" since Lindhurst's shot, from 20 feet out, was in mid-air when the final gun went off.

In the companion feature, Governor Clinton Hotel scored a routine 40-25 victory over Potter Brothers.

The Excitement Starts

Clippers led 33-21 at halftime and showed a 39-36 bulge at the three quarter mark when things began to happen. Two Otto aces were eliminated in the last six minutes—B. Terwilliger with a turned ankle and McDonald on five fouls.

Cliff Schoonmaker, with his left hand in a bandage the last six minutes, simply because there was no other substitute available. He injured his hand in an elevator a few days ago.

With five seconds remaining, D. Schoonmaker of the Clippers attempted to freeze the ball. Two Chezzies hounded him so closely that he was forced to pass out. Ray Lindhurst intercepted, took two dribbles and tossed a desperation shot from 20 feet. Swish! The ball game was over.

Show Balanced Attack

The Clippers had the individual scoring stars, Greene 16, D. Terwilliger and McDonald each 10, but Chez Emile had the better balance. "Snitz" Houghtaling led with five buckets.

Van Derzee and Broadhead scored 12 points apiece for Governor Clinton, while Peck tallied 12 for Potter's.

Harness Racing Enjoys Boom In 12 States

New York, March 10 (AP)—Harness racing, once virtually a county fair attraction, has moved into the big cities with a bang. There's no telling where or when its expansion will stop.

Six years ago the sport was transplanted to the noise and bustle of metropolitan New York — Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island.

From that point, the trotters have come into their own, mushrooming with professional impetus into many of the nation's larger population centers.

Like the established flat race tracks, these harness people are operating strictly a business proposition with pari-mutuel betting and with welcome revenue to the states which have made it legal.

The United States Trotting Association, closing its annual meeting here, says 29 harness tracks in 12 states will be operated this year. Like Roosevelt Raceway, most will run at night.

Roosevelt was the first attempt to bring trotting to the big town, under the lights and with the mutuel window. Attendance was bad at first, but after a few weeks it grew, and has mounted ever since.

Clifton Quick, defending champion in the city pocket billiard tournament, defeated a dangerous contender, Bob East, 125-103, before a huge gallery last night at the Kaslish Parlor.

The champ gained an early lead of about 30 balls but East rallied with a run of 27 and was 15 points ahead when Quick launched a steady counter attack that featured a cluster of 18.

Commerce Board

Its activities affect the lives of many more people than those who work for it. Its levels of production influence retail trade, local finance and the general level of community prosperity. Its plant can be either a community eyesore or a community show place. The taxes it pay and the contributions it makes help to support local government, education and other civic enterprises. It recruits new workers from the town and hopes to appeal to the best qualified people for these jobs. It is only natural therefore, that the people of a community should have more than a passing interest in the industrial establishments located there and since people comprise the community it is only logical that the company should be equally interested in them.

Understanding comes from explanation. The product and the company policy must be good, but this does not eliminate the need of publicizing and explaining the facts. Out of this simple logic stems all business community relations.

In our community we have a sincere acceptance by our company of its social responsibilities. Our management is constantly planning for full, continuous employment, maximum wages and job security, organization morale building, and helping all employes to understand the problems of business management. We will extend full encouragement of all religious and cultural development as well as the assistance in formal education and youth training. Naturally we have a pride in our company and this interest extends to pride and promotion of the city as a community.

Therefore our activities are designed to promote a better understanding and appreciation of the position of our company, in the economic life of the community.

Despite the disadvantages under which the city has labored in the past, we believe that a well designed and aggressively carried out program to bring into the city from six to twelve new industries, each employing from 50 to 100 men could and would be successful. The addition of six such industries with annual payrolls of $150,000.00 each would add almost a million dollars per annum in payroll income. In such an undertaking if you feel our company could be helpful, we shall be happy to join with you in such an undertaking.

In the meantime we intend to report to the people of Kingston at least quarterly as to our progress. We agree to pay fair wages for an honest day's work, and to increase those wages as fast and as often as business will allow. We agree to improve our working conditions constantly, for safety, for health and for enjoyment. We agree to put a large share of our earnings back into the business in the form of research — scientific and market—so that our products will get continually better, will have a longer life, and will give greater satisfaction and will help you live better. We agree to modernize our plant and train our people to do a better job. We will study distribution so that more people who need what we make can afford to have it. We will work for lower costs, greater productive efficiency and lower prices.

We insist on a fair profit, not only for ourselves, but for the wholesalers and retailers down the line who do the selling and servicing. We think it is good for us, good for the community and good for the country. We pledge that we will keep honest books, will guard against depressions and excesses, and maintain adequate reserves for the stabilization of business and employment. We agree to give our stockholders a fair return on their investment. We guarantee that we shall obey the law, where we work, build and sell.

Our plans, as recently outlined to you and your Board of Directors are being carried out as fast as it is humanly possible to do so. Our volume of business for the month of February exceeded our estimate, but we have a long way to go in our recent financial plans before we dare to materially expand our working force. Our dealer organization throughout the world is continually expanding. Import and exchange restrictions have reduced the volume of our export trade, but we hope that negotiations now being carried on with many foreign buyers will result in substantial overseas volume before the end of 1948.

With best personal regards, believe me

Sincerely yours,
EASTERN TRACTOR

J. J. Carroll

Two Cars Collide

The police reported today that automobiles operated by Max Kaplan of 3 Schryver Court and the other by Willard Thomas of 14 Reynolds street, were involved in an accident about 1:22 a. m., today near the intersection of Henry street and Clinton avenue. Damages to the Kaplan car were to the left front fender. The Thomas car received damages to the left front fender and bumper. Both parties were insured.

Waste Paper Drive

Boy Scout Troop 16 of Tillson will conduct a paper drive in the village Saturday, it was announced today. Residents of the village and area are requested to tie their discarded scrap paper and leave it on porches or other easily noticeable and accessible places for collection.

Says Offer Was Made

Washington, March 10 (AP)—Calvin Mettee, former G.I. chauffeur of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, testified today that Meyers offered him $2,000 to give false testimony at the generals' present federal court trial.

the window on the right side broken, the operator escaped injury. No other personal injuries were reported by the police.

Spokesmen at the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., and the New York Telephone Co., said later this morning that they had not received any calls on interruption of service in the locality.

Officers Edward Leonard and George Bowers investigated for the police in a patrol car and reported that the truck was insured.

Officers were dispatched this morning to the area to aid in the replacing of the pole. The position of the smashed pole kept the truck lodged there until crews were sent to repair the minor damage.

Third Such Accident

This is the third truck accident involving East Chester street property this winter. On January 7 a trailer truck skidded into the residence of John Dittus, 112 East Chester street and damaged the porch. Another tractor-trailer struck the home of Henry Carter, 236 East Chester street, February 26 and moved the dwelling from its foundation.

No Back-Tracking

McGrath indicated that President Truman had no intention of backtracking in his civil rights program when he remarked pointedly that Mr. Truman would be returned to the White House in 1948 by voters of "every race, creed and color."

The Rhode Island senator laid the responsibility for inflation in the laps of the Republican majority, declaring:

"Instead of facing the facts they proceeded to speculate in the political futures market. They sent the President a completely inadequate bill."

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-O.) defended the Taft-Hartley Act as a restorer of justice and equality in labor-management relations.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), charged Congress and industry with responsibility for the high cost of living.

Brady Is Named

'Will Sell U. S. Short'

Hamilton, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—U. S. Senator Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) says Henry Wallace's third party "will sell America short" if it ever gets authority. He made the statement last night in a question and answer period following an address at Colgate University, in which he urged Congress to adopt the Marshall Plan within the next 10 days. The Oregon senator said "the third party under the leadership of Henry Wallace will sell America short if it ever comes into power. It's time for the American people to make up their minds whether they want to go Communistic through the back door of a third party. That's all Henry Wallace offers."
